1,600 Expected For 1st Classes Today, Friday

Cameron schools opened today with about 1,600 expected to attend Thursday classes.

And a large crowd of Cameron grid boosters were set to go to West tomorrow night to watch the 1960 Yoe-men under the helm of Coach Billy Bates debut against the West Trojans.

Supt. Earl Knebel said that the final teaching vacancy had been filled with the employment of Larry Hyde, an August graduate of East Texas State College, as YHS industrial arts instructor.

And Dr. Knebel said that the last of seven new school buses were to be in operation today.

School officials said that pre-registration totaled about 80 percent of the anticipated 1,600 students expected to attend public schools here. About 185 are expected to start classes September 6 at St. Anthony's parochial school.

Cameron is expected to start the grid season against West with several key men on the injury list, but Bates said head - up football will be the deciding factor in the Friday tilt.

West has lost most of the big lineup the Trojans had last year. Gametime is 8 p. m. at Trojan Field in West.

West - Cameron game tickets may be purchased upto noon Friday at the YHS principal's office.

County schools at Buckholts, Sharp, Milano, Burlington, Gause, and Maysfield will begin classes Tuesday following the Labor Day weekend. Some of the schools are holding pre - registration prior to Tuesday.

Miss Ware was declared winner in a field of eight county winners from Central Texas. Entries from the following counties were scheduled to compete: Bosque, Falls, Hamilton, Limestone, Lampasas, McLennan, Williamson, Bell and Milam Counties.

The contest was held at Cameron's First Methodist Fellowship Hall before several hundred Farm Bureau families and visitors.

Dr. G. Kendrick, district director of the Farm Bureau crowned the winning contestant. She will represent this area in the November state contest. O. G. Tumlinson, president of the Milam Farm Bureau, introduced the speakers.

Milam Bale Count Reaches 1,278 Total

Officials at Cameron Compress report that 1,278 bales have been ginned through Tuesday in Milam County.

Intermittent showers, falling almost daily, have slowed cotton production to a near standstill.

Total count the same week last year was 2,393 bales, but rains had been sparse during the same harvesting period in 1959.

Production was expected to increase at a fast rate when the rains cleared the area.

City Looks For New CPD

The City Council Monday night voted 4-1 to accept the resignations of two patrolmen and a radio dispatcher and to ask for Chief Homer Johnson's resignation.

It meant that Cameron city fathers would be hiring a brand new city police force after September 1, effective date of all the resignations.

Councilmen agreed to call on Bill Richter, city employee working both in the police and fire departments, to be acting chief until a new police chief is hired. Other officers remaining are meter patrolman Marshall Terry and night watchman Bernie Miller.

The police department housecleaning followed a four and one-half hour marathon session Monday night at City Hall.

Warren McCall and Howard Simmons, city patrolmen and Gene Kirk, night radio dispatcher, submitted a letter of resignation, dated August 26, wishing to resign in a group effective today.

Some city officials interpreted the mass resignation as a pressure move to oust Johnson, employed by the city about four months ago.

Each man was interviewed individually by councilmen during the long Monday night session.

Simons, McCall and Kirk gave individual reasons for being "unable to work under the Cameron police chief's policies." Their letter of resignation had asked that they be allowed to hear before the council statements from Chief Johnson that he had not received co - operation in his department.

Before voting to accept the resignations and ask for Johnson's, the council failed to approve a motion made by Councilman Sam Houston that the trio's letter of resignation be rejected.

In the vote to approve accepting the resignations and asking for the chief's, Councilmen Richard Moseley, E. L. Wied, John A. Smith and Roy Griffith voted for it and Houston voted against it. Johnson was the fourth chief to be employed by the city in three years.

The letter of resignation went to Mayor Coleman Duncum, who called the meeting Monday night. Mayor Duncum commended the council on their calm deliberation during the long session."

Crowd Attends Lanes Opening

About 365 people attended grand opening ceremonies Sunday afternoon at the new Cameron Bowling Lanes as Mayor Coleman Duncum snipped the ribbon to inaugurate the new lanes.

Dr. S. H. Richardson, president of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce, congratulated the builders of the modern bowling facilities, and welcomed the expanded bowling center as another addition to the Cameron's recreation program.

About 700 people attended bowling sessions during the day, either bowling or watching exhibition games between teams from Cameron, Rockdale, Temple, and Waco. The eight brand new lanes are equipped with automatic pinsetters, ball return devices and other modern equipment.

A Cameron ladies team defeated a Waco ladies team while another Cameron ladies team was defeated by Waco.

In men's bowling competition during the exhibition, Cameron team defeated a Temple team while a Rockdale Alcoa team lost to Waco and the Cameron team split 2-2 with the Waco kegglers.

Cameron bowlers on the two ladies teams were: Ida Michalka, Angas Barton, Annie Laake, Milady Hollas and Bennie Mayer, who won over Temple, and: Annie Hollas, Florence Fikes, Annie Schattler, Mona Zota and Frances Michna, who lost to the Waco team.

Bowling for the Cameron Farm and Ranch team were: Gene Goldfarb, Charles Hollas, Clarence Al-lison, Leo Hollas and Joe Humplik.

John Andres acted as master of ceremonies at the grand opening. He introduced Dr. Richardson and Mayor Duncum who also cited the lanes as an excellent recreation center.

The new structure was completed with the addition of a wing for the new alleys. The former building facilities were remodeled inside to provide space for spectators, a snack bar and service area for bowlers equipment.

Doctor Notes Need For 'Checkup, Check' In Cancer Fight

Dr. S. H. Richardson urged an annual check up to curb the danger of cancer in a speech before the Cameron Lions Club Monday at The Texan.

An annual physical checkup often will detect cancer allow enough time to head it off when no symptoms are noticeable, Dr. Richardson said.

He recommended that all people over 45 have an annual physical. A doctor can give a complete checkup in his office and no special detection centers are necessary, he said.

Dr. Richardson quoted statistics including: one out of every five people will have cancer and one out of every eight will eventually die from the disease.

Yarreltonians Interested

Joint Water Plan Proceeds

A Ben Arnold - Burlington Water Association has been found financially feasible and citizens of Yarrelton have indicated interest in joining in the well drilling plan.

These results were announced after a meeting last week of a four-man committee with their attorney and an engineering consultant.

Walter G. Marek, chairman of the group, reported that several independent geologists advised that a well can be drilled about four miles west of Burlington, but that a well could not be guaranteed in the immediate area.

An engineering consultant told the group that salt water probably would be brought up from any well in the Burlington townsite.

He added that a number of drilling firms would guarantee a successful well about four miles west of Burlington. A guaranteed well in the town area would not be likely, the official said.

Mr. Wade, of Locke Engineering, Waco, also said his firm had received a number of inquiries from citizens of Yarrelton interested in a water system for their community. He suggested that the Water Association committee contact the Yarrelton residents and attempt organization of a triangular water system for the three communities.

Marek said that the committee well in the Burlington townsite agreed with Wade's recommendation.

tion to consider placing the well to serve all three communities. A meeting with Yarrelton citizens is being planned, he added.

The committee voted to start the membership survey data study in Burlington and Ben Arnold. Contacts are being made with potential subscribers in the two areas.

Another meeting will be held when the survey is completed for further consideration of the project.

Meeting in the committee were Phil Krause, Ben Fox, the Rev. Goertz and Marek. Also present was attorney Carlton Smith, Waco.

Texas Public Safety Department Estimates 29 To Die Over Holiday

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today announced the official prediction that 29 persons will be killed next weekend in Labor Day holiday traffic in Texas.

Garrison said some 125 extra patrolmen from the department's other uniformed services will join the regular Highway Patrol force in attempting to halt traffic law violations - which figure in most fatal accidents.

"We hope the driving public will help this Labor Day weekend to prove that we have over-estimated the number of traffic fatalities that will occur in the three-day period," he said.

"Department patrolmen and all other law enforcement officers in our state will do everything possible to make the streets and highways safer by removing lawless drivers - but the statistics prove the main job is up to the individual behind the wheel."

"It is significant to note that in each of the 14 fatal accidents which occurred outside city limits last Labor Day weekend, at least one law violation was involved."

N. K. Woerner, manager of the department's statistical services, reported that excessive speed over the posted limits was involved in 10 of the 14 rural fatal accidents during the holiday last year and that drinking was involved in seven of the 14.

In recent years, the highest statewide traffic toll for the three-day Labor Day holiday was 43 killed in 32 accidents in 1955. Thirty died in 1958 and 27 motorcyclists occurred during the Labor Day holiday in 1959.

"Labor Day is a yearly turning point in our lives - a time of year when activities, dress and behavior of Texans make a definite change. It is a time for many of us to take that last big outing before settling down to the routine of fall and the school season," Garrison said.

"Therefore, we can expect Texans to be on the move on our streets and highways - and we should be alert for the extra hazards presented by unusually crowded conditions."

Her tulle veil was held by a small crown of pearl, orange blossom and imported silk roses. She carried a white orchid surrounded by white rosebuds and stephanotis.

Her maid of honor and bridesmaids were attired in scoop-necked dresses of beige lace and silk organza. They carried beige (lily) mums surrounded by bronze pom poms mums and English ivy.

The bride's travel costume was a powder blue sheer summer wool suit with royal blue accessories.

In the fall Mr. and Mrs. Kirk will be students at East Texas State College in Commerce. The bride is a member of Chi Omega sorority and Eta Epsilon at ETSC, where she is a senior home economics major. She is a graduate of Yoe High School in Cameron. Visit To Egypt . . . Report V

Writer Visits Cairo Area

This report on Egypt from Mr. A. W. McGregor was delayed several weeks before reaching The Herald. Dated July 29, it was the first eye-witness account written on his recent six-week tour of Middle East and Europe. — Ed.

By A. W. McGregor

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Egypt, an important crossroads between East and West, occupies the northeastern corner of Africa, looking north to the Mediterranean and east to the Red Sea.

This nation has a population of about 24 million, about equal to the total of California, Pennsylvania and Maine. Cairo is the capital (population 3.5 millions).

Most of the people in the new parts of the city wear western clothes. In the native quarters, however, they still wear native garb.

About 95 percent of Cairo inhabitants are Mohammedans, the official religion being Islam. I visited several of the 29 Cairo mosques. And the Mosque of Sultan Hassan proved the most interesting. When it was completed, the Sultan had the architect's hands cut off so that he would not copy the design and workmanship.

I also visited the oldest Coptic Church in Egypt. It is said to be built on the site where Mary and Joseph hid with Jesus following Herod's edict to kill all male babies under two years of age. Included in the tour of religious centers were visits to the Ben Ezra Synagogue, oldest in Egypt, and to the spot where Moses was probably placed in the bulrushes and found by the Pharaoh's daughter.

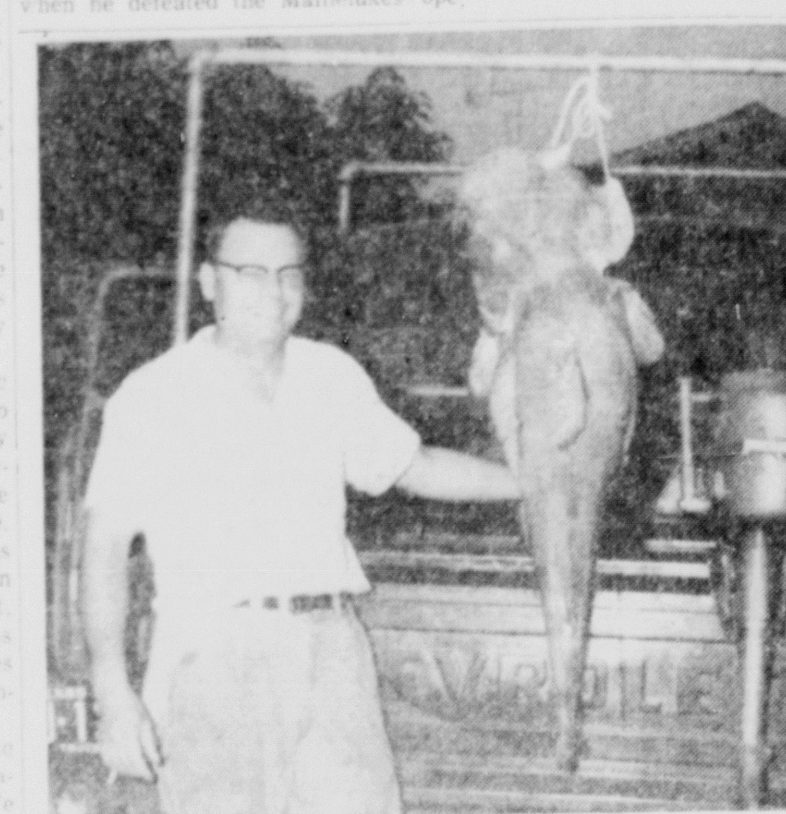

No visit here would be complete without a trip to the Great Pyramids and the Sphinx at Giza. We went by automobile to a kind of staging station where we got out and traveled the remaining quarter of a mile to the pyramid of Cheops by camel.

Camels are placid animals, but if one gets mad at the rider, he will spit in his face. If your guide doesn't like you, or if you do not give him a big tip, he will do something to the camel (in camel language and the animal will turn on the saliva).

The great Pyramid of Cheops was formerly one of the so-called "wonders of the world." It is a solid mass of some two million limestone blocks averaging 2.5 tons in weight. It is 446 feet high, 746 feet wide and long at the base and covers 12 acres. King Cheops tomb, composed of huge slabs of granite, is in the center.

The Sphinx's nose was shot off for spite by soldiers of Napoleon when he defeated the Mamelukes.

THE ONE THAT DIDN'T GET AWAY — Albert Hajovsky proudly displays the 54 pound yellowcat he caught on August 29th. It was caught on the Little River on a trout line baited with tank perch. This yellow cat was the fourth large one in two months for Hajovsky. The others tipped the scales at 36, 24 and 26½ pounds. —Staffoto

The Yoemen journey to West Friday night to pit their skill against a strong West team. West was strong last year and won their district with ease. Hitting, blocking, tackling and running hard the Yoemen look like a hard team to beat. Let's show the coaches and team that we are behind them 100 percent. Go to West Friday night . . . Powers Slaps National Purpose . . .

National purpose took another clip on the chin in the Francis Powers case. The Russians made bold of it by writing Powers off as an "inoffensive young man" but still capable of striking nuclear fear into the heart of Russia. He got 10 years, seven of which will be detention, not prison confinement.

If not brainwashed, Powers took the obvious way out by pleading ignorance of the content of his airplane — high speed cameras. He said he was sorry the U-2 plane incident was the cause of the May Summit collapse and said he was only following orders in making the trip across Russia.

No one wished to judge Powers in his circumstances, facing a potential death penalty, but how could he deny knowledge of his mission, the equipment on his airplane and still say he is sorry the U-2 plane capture caused an international catastrophe.

Why was he paid $30,000 a year? If he had been flying a military airplane in combat, he would have not made more than $6,000 to $8,000 a year. He cannot presume to plead ignorance of the potential risk of his missions.

It would appear, though few may agree, that Francis Powers was flying highly classified missions for the money. And when the money became irrelevant, due to his capture, and what could be considered an inherent responsibility to "face the music" with aplomb became relevant, he denied that responsibility.

One observer recently compared Powers' performance in Russian court to that of several Russian spies tried in the U. S. and even executed in recent years.

He said they did not shrivel from the obvious responsibility of committing an act against a foreign power . . . in this case, the United States. And they died for it.

Someone must give the orders and someone must carry them out. But one cannot be absolved of the act any more than the policy maker who makes the decision.

We sympathize with Powers in his plight of being caught. He is among company that dates from Nathan Hale, the American Revolutionary who had but one life to give to his country, on to the thousands of Americans who suffered indignities, brainwashing and murder in the Korean conflict.

We find it disconcerting to pay people $30,000 a year for clandestine operations and watch their loyalty melt when the soup's hot. It proves at least that dollars nor clothes nor goodlooks make a man or a country.

Back To Safety Day . . .

School starts today in Cameron and driving with sensible caution means more than it did yesterday.

When kids go off to school, they sometimes forget themselves at the crossings and intersections in their enthusiasm.

And that is when the driver has the chief responsibility of watching closely for the youngsters that were not there before school opened.

Kids on bicycles also will mean an additional caution for drivers. This would motor bikes, regular bicycles, and motor scooters.

There will be concentrations of these vehicles around school neighborhoods.

It is an unrelenting job, this safety business. But lives are always the prize, young lives. And they are our prize possession.

Schools Prepare For Fall Classes

By Vera Sanford

AUSTIN — Summer weeds are being mowed down on the school yards over Texas this week. Classrooms are being aired, and teachers are mapping lesson plans.

Some teenagers — probably thousands — are ignoring all these "fix" — paid preparations being made for their benefit. Deliberately or unknowingly, they're getting ready to make one of the worst mistakes of their lives . . . not finishing high school.

Gov. Price Daniel has issued a special plea to youngsters to "go back to school and remain there until graduation."

To drop out of school, the governor reminded, is to cheat yourself out of a probable $50,000 in future income. This is the average difference between what a high school graduate and an eighth grade graduate will earn in a lifetime.

At the peak of his earning power, the average high school graduate will earn 27 per cent more than the average eighth grade graduate, said the governor.

Public concern is based on statistics showing that between the 1955 - 56 school year and graduation of the 1958 - 59 class, more than one - third of Texas high school students dropped out.

In 1955 a total of 119,272 students enrolled in the ninth grade in Texas public schools. When that class graduated in 1959, only 71,855 still were there. About 39 per cent had dropped out.

Governor Daniel reminded that in an age of swift technical advancement, it is harder and harder for an unskilled worker to find a job. He called on public and private organizations to join in encouraging young people to stay in school. Both the individual and the community enjoy a better life, he said, where more people have good educations.

SMALL WORLD PROBLEMS

In deciding what kind of materials to use in building Texas roads and bridges, the State Highway Commission found itself plunged headlong into the whirlpool of international relations.

This summer the Commission issued an order that only American-made materials should be used in Texas road and bridge building. Texas industrialists, particularly steel officials, cheered, but representatives of foreign nations lodged storm of protest at a hearing before the Commission.

As a result, the order has been held up for further study. Decision will come probably in later September.

Representatives of the Texas steel industry called the ban on foreign materials "a forward step for Texas." They said use of imported products brings loss of jobs for Texas workers and loss of taxes from Texas businesses. Furthermore, they argued, the imports are slightly cheaper and frequently of inferior quality.

Attorneys representing the governments of Japan, Belgium and West Germany countered that "international trade is a two-way street." In short, they said Texas cannot expect to continue to profit from selling its product abroad unless it is willing to buy from other countries.

A spokesman for an international trade group declared the imports ban would violate the spirit of a treaty between Japan and the U. S.

MEDICAL AID URGED

Next legislature has been urged to pass a law providing for payments for the medical care of the needy aged.

Housing sub - committee of the Governor's Committee on Aging has released its report which points particularly to the discrepancy between old age pensions and nursing home costs.

Maximum old age assistance is $67 a month, said the sub-committee, while the average charge of a licensed private nursing home is $159 per month. Medical payments, said the committee, would be a help in closing this gap.

In 1958 a constitutional amendment was approved giving the legislature authority to set up such a program. It would cost approximately $10,000,000 in state money, which would be matched with almost twice as much in federal funds.

These and related problems will be discussed at a statewide meeting of the Committee on Aging in Austin Sept. 7. Lending importance to the study are statistics showing the rapid increase in the number of older persons. During the past 60 years Texas population has tripled, but the population over 65 has multiplied by ten.

Milam Sales Reach 98 Percent Of Total 1960 Goal

"Savings Bonds sales for the first seven months of 1960 totaled $372,429", Henry Siebman, chairman of Milam County's bond committee reported today. "Our county has now reached 98 per cent of its 1960 goal of $380,000. July sales were $36,004."

Sales in Texas for July 1960 were $12,294, 662 which was 6 per cent greater than the same period in 1959.

"A part of every American's savings should be invested in Savings Bonds, to provide for his future and to add strength to the National economy," stated Siebman.

LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER

Way To Prove Nobody Knows What's Going On In The Congo

Dear editor:

More and more, it's getting clear that an ignorant man hasn't got a chance to keep up with what's going on in the world, and sometimes I have my doubts about the educated ones.

For example, day after day lately there's been a lot of news out of the Congo, but my opinion is that the news is being received in newspaper offices by men who don't know what it is, dressed up with headlines by other men who don't know what it is and printed and passed on to readers who don't know what it is.

Take this headline I read in a newspaper last night: "UN Entry Okayed By Tschombe. Lumumba Move Is Opposed By Kanyanga Chief". The article underneath went on to talk about Premier Moise Tschombe, Premier Patrice Lumumba, Prime Minister Gaston Eyskens, the mid - African Ruanda Urundi trusteeship, Kamina military base, the fighting in Kasai and on the western shore of Lake Tanganyika.

It also mentioned dissatisfaction among the Kynacke tribes, an appeal to the U. N. by Premier Jynkas in the Congolese province of Leonitus, etc.

All right, you get the idea. Now I'd like to make a test. I'll bet a subscription to The Cameron Herald against a subscription to the New York Times, a fairly even bet, that if you take this letter to any high school or college teacher you can find, he can't correctly identify all these names and places listed above in connection with the Congo.

If he can't, how's a n ordinary newspaper reader like me going to get to first base with it? What base did you get to?

And also, if you want to stretch the fun out, after this educated person has reeled with these names awhile, let him in on the fact all the names mentioned in the fourth paragraph of this letter are made up out of thin air. There ain't no such names or places. The names in the paragraphs are genuine, taken right out of a news article, but I just made the others up. Yet I still bet some perverse editor could insert them in a news dispatch out of the Congo and not over fifteen people in the world, outside of the Congo, would even catch on. This includes Congressmen, Senators, Cabinet members, and probably some Presidential candidates.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Worm Damage To Fall Oats

By J. D. Moore
Milam County Agent

Stockmen are reminded to be on the alert for army worm damage to fall oats. Although rains have delayed crop harvest, the moisture will be a big help to fall sown oats for livestock grazing.

Hubert Jisel of the Ad Hall community reports a good crop of volunteer oats on well fertilized land. The oats show signs of army worm damage with gray or silvery appearance on the leaves. Some of the plants have a "cut-off" appearance where worm damage has occurred.

Jisel used a two - one mix of DDT at the rate of a little better than one quart per acre. He reports good results.

Do not allow dairy animals or animals being finished for slaughter to graze in treated fields. Remove all livestock for a 15-day period.

Livestock Producers

Should Prepare For Winter "Dog-Days"

COLLEGE STATION — This is the traditional season of "dog days" — it is too hot to work and too dry to fish. Farmers and ranchers, however, cannot afford to be dull and lazy during these late summer days. Winter is not very far away and now is the time to make preparations for carrying the livestock until next spring. B. J. Ragsdale and G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist, have offered a few suggestions that will help the livestock owner prepare for the months ahead.

Others are trying to rid the Southwest of one of its worst livestock pests — the screwworm. The USDA has announced that new research on means of eradicating the screwworm will begin soon at Kerrville. This is the same USDA station that was responsible for much of the basic research that led to the sterile fly technique used successfully against the screwworm in the Southeast.

One of the main projects of the USDA's entomologists will be to develop better methods of rearing screwworms, and also to find ways to produce strains of the insect better suited to sterilization by radiation. Another important aim of the Kerrville research is to learn more about the nutritional requirements of screwworms larvae so that an improved, inexpensive rearing medium may be developed. Project scientists will also seek new methods by which flies can be irradiated with minimum effect on their life processes.

In announcing the new project, the USDA reported that Dr. Raymond C. Bushland would head the researchers. Early this year local stockmen agreed to collect screwworm larvae and mail them in to assist with the research on this program. Among those cooperating with Dr. Robert Tittsworth, Dr. Bob Tumlinson, Dr. J. J. Parmelee, Niley Smith, Henry W. Abel, Hubert McClaren, and other livestock men interested in the program.

The main purpose of local participation was to help locate the occurrence of the screwworms and to help plot their migration. Later on this information will help in determining where and when to release the sterile male fly.

Economist Compares 1960 Economic Situation To 1959

COLLEGE STATION — John McHaney, extension agricultural economist, has recently completed an analysis of the 1960 economic situation as compared to the economic situation in 1959. Agricultural production, business conditions and other economic factors affecting agriculture are compared by the specialist.

Another year of high agricultural production is forecast by McHaney. He says that the total crop output in the United States will probably equal the all-time highs of 1958 and 1959, and that the total production of livestock and livestock products will probably be close to that of last year. 1960's wheat crop will probably be the third largest on record, McHaney continues. The supply of feed grains and other concentrates will probably exceed last year's record supply. Rice supplies for the 1960 marketing year, which began August 1, are expected to be below those of last year.

A smaller number of layers and tighter egg supplies will probably keep egg price for the rest of 1960 higher than those of a year earlier. Hog slaughter for the rest of 1960, McHaney continues, should remain below that of a year earlier and prices should begin to improve.

In his comparison of business economic conditions, the economist reports that personal income for the second quarter of 1960 showed an increase over personal income for the same period of last year. Civilian employment for the second quarter showed an increase over the same three months of 1959. This same period showed retail sales and sales of the food group gained over last year. Industrial production, however, remained about the same for the second quarter of both years.

On the debit side, housing starts and construction outlays for the month of June showed a decrease from June 1959, levels Unemployment and consumer credit outstanding for June of this year were higher than for the same month of 1959, McHaney concludes.

Hay Program Held In Austin

COLLEGE STATION — A quality hay program, quite different from the hay contests held in the old-time county fairs, was held in Austin on August 16, reports George McBee, extension pasture specialist. The program, sponsored by the Travis County Dairy and Pastures Committee in cooperation with Travis County Agent Elmo Cook, was designed to educate farmers on better hay production methods as well as to reward for production of quality hay.

Entries were divided into ten classes, McBee continues, and three places were picked in each class. The classes judged were Johnsongrass, Sudan, Cane, Hegari, Oats, alfalfa, Bermuda, clover, mixtures predominantly legumes and mixtures all grass. In addition to the three winners in each class, a grand champion bale was selected. Mr. H. F. Green won this honor with a bale of Sudan hay.

All entries were judged on quality, says McBee. Some of the factors used to determine this quality were stage of leafiness, color, freedom from weeds and other foreign materials and the amount and type of curing.

Talks and demonstrations on the production and value of top quality hay were given by Texas A & M College System personnel.

The committee plans to make this program an annual affair, and they hope that it will help improve the quality of hay produced in Austin area, says McBee. They also hope that this pioneer program will generate interest and similar programs over the entire state, he concludes.

Ideal Entries Win 1st Honors In Three States

Ideal H-3-W Strain Cross layers developed by Ideal Hatchery and won three state contests in recent weeks.

The Cameron concern's H-3-W chick entries won the annual Missouri three-year random sample test, the Central New York random sample test and the three-year Texas Random Sample test at Texas A & M College Station.

News of the 1960 records was announced by Owner Leo Fuchs, Cameron, at a meeting of Texas Ideal H-3-W distributors during the Texas Poultry Convention in Fort Worth. Fuchs said the Ideal H-3-W organization has now expanded from four distributors in Texas to 19 distributors in 10 states and Belgium.

The Missouri honor went to the Ideal entries for the second year in a row. The tests are held at the Missouri center at Mountain Grove.

The Cameron entries were tops in a field of 32 at the New York contest at Cornell, N. Y.

And the Ideal entries produced the highest average income over feed and chick cost for the past three years.
